2010 SEASON

ARTISTS IN PARKS

The South Carolina State Park Service is pleased to announce the 2010 season of its Artist-in-Residence program. Artists will have the opportunity to become part of a growing number of resident artists from state and national parks who relate the park in their works.

Artists have long had an impact on our perceptions of parks. In the American West, painters and photographers documented spectacular landscapes for audiences who had never seen such sights. Dramatic photographs, paintings and other art forms helped to stimulate the establishment of many of our parks and continue to foster an appreciation of them.

ARTIST-IN-RESIDENCE

The Artist-in-Residence program provides artists with the opportunity to gain inspiration from the natural and cultural resources of South Carolina State Parks.

The Artist-in-Residence program is open to all artists whose work can interpret the park's natural and/or cultural resources. We offer painters, photographers, potters, sculptors, weavers and other artists the opportunity to capture the natural and historical resources of South Carolina State Parks. Collaborative proposals will be considered.

The South Carolina State Park Service will provide the use of a cabin to selected participants for a one-week period. Amenities include a kitchen, bathroom, basic cooking equipment, electricity, water, and all linens. Cabins sleep up to four people, and no pets are allowed inside of the cabins. Transportation to and from the selected park will be the responsibility of the selected artist. The artist should bring all personal gear, food, and art supplies.

In return, the participating artists will donate an original work representative of their stay at their selected park within 90 days of their residency. The original work will be displayed in the cabins and other facilities throughout the park. The finished artwork should reflect a part of the artist's residing park for present and future generations.

THE SELECTION PROCESS

A jury will be comprised of state park representatives. The selected artist will be assigned a South Carolina State Park with overnight cabin facilities. Their residency date will be determined by the availability of the cabins per their assigned park. Artists will be responsible for contacting their assigned park for their cabin reservation.

The Artist-In-Residence program is open to all art forms, but those that manipulate or disturb the park's resources, or utilize materials from endangered or threatened species will be excluded. Collecting materials from state park property is not permitted.

Selections are made without regard to race, religion, marital status, sex, age or national origin.
